i) User Account: an account established to the User through which the User enters into his User Profile and uses the Good Day English Services.

j) User Profile: part of the User Account, which serves for publishing and displaying information about the User under the conditions stipulated by these GTC. The user profile serves exclusively a single User.

k) Authorization request: a User's request submitted through his User Account after entering a username and password and other authorization data, if applicable. The password for entering the User Account can be changed or received at any time, based on access to the e-mail account that is under the account in the User Account registered or based on a verified User's request.

l) Harmful content: such content of a User Account or a User Profile that is in conflict with (i) laws or other generally binding legal regulations, (ii) good morals, (iii) principles of fair trade, (iv) business practices, (v) decisions of courts and other public authorities, or (vi) the rights and legitimate interests of Good Day English or third parties.

II.

General Terms of Service and Use of Services

2.1. Services provided through the online Good Day English platform are authorized under the terms of these GTC to be used by a registered User who has a User Account (account), has legal personality and is fully capable of doing so. The User undertakes to pay remuneration under the Terms of Service provided by the Services and to comply with all terms and instructions of Good Day English relating to the provision of the Services.

2.2 These terms are binding contractual arrangements between the User and Good Day English and, in specified cases, between Users and each other. The User agrees to legally bind to these Terms and Conditions in the use of the Services and the online Good Day English platform and undertakes to abide by these GTC in full and without reservation. In the event of Disagreement by the User with these GTC, the User is not entitled to use the Services or otherwise continue to use the online Good Day English platform; if the User, despite his disagreement with these GTC, continues to use the GTC, the GTC and the resulting rights and obligations are fully applicable to him.

2.3 The Good Day English Online Platform, including the Good Day English website www.gooddayenglish.com or any other website or application through which Good Day English provides the Services, represents an online space for mutual communication and language learning, where both Users and Students as well as Lecturers can benefit from resulting from direct communication between one another. Good Day English is not a party to any agreement with a Student and a Lecturer or a participant in any legal relationship resulting from a contractual relationship with the Student and the Lecturer.

2.4. A user who has chosen to use the Good Day English Services as a Lecturer confirms and agrees that he is a subject independent of Good Day English, acting exclusively under his own name, on his own responsibility. It is a separate legal entity that is not an employee, associate, or controlling Good Day English for any reason.

2.5. Services provided through the online Good Day English platform are exclusively for entities with full legal personality and legal capacity. Physical persons are entitled to use the Services if they are older than 18 years, unless otherwise agreed by their legal representative. Any access to or use of the Services by a person under the age of 18 without the consent of his / her legal representative is prohibited. By registering, accessing the User Account, or using the Services, the User confirms that he is fully entitled to acquire the rights and take on himself the obligations of his own. If a User who is a legal person or an organization is interested in registering and using the Good Day English Services, a person acting on such User at the time of registration declares and warrants that he or she has the right to bind such legal entity or organization in its entirety. In the case of untruthfulness or incompleteness of such statement, this person shall be liable in full for any obligations incurred.

III.

Registration and establishment of a User Account

3.1. The condition of registration and establishment of the User Account is (i) filling in the electronic registration form in the GDE app on the Good Day English website www.gooddayenglish.com, (ii) expressing the User's consent to these GTC and other terms and conditions by clicking on the relevant registration box, (iii) processing personal data provided by Good Day English by clicking on the appropriate checkbox at the time of registration.

3.3 By confirming the filled in registration form, the user confirms that the data he has entered is true and that he has the opportunity to get acquainted with these GTC and other terms and conditions, which he undertakes to observe and observe before the final confirmation of registration. The user is responsible for any damages caused by the submission of false, incomplete or inaccurate data provided at registration.

3.4. The contractual relationship between Good Day English and the User concerned with the provision of the Services arises at the time of the binding registration confirmation upon acceptance of the contractual terms in the form of a click in the final part of the registration form.

3.5. Good Day English is authorized to verify the registration with the User by any appropriate means at the contact e-mail address or telephone number given in the registration form. In the event that Registration is not confirmed by the User in this way, Good Day English is not allowed to accept the registration and does not establish the User Account or cancel it if the User has already been established in the meantime. If Good Day English has doubts about the truthfulness, completeness or accuracy of the data provided by the User in the completed registration form or the identity of the User, the User is required to provide Good Day English, upon request, with his identification documents and other documents to verify the entered data.

3.6. The contractual relationship between Good Day English and the User may be remotely altered in a manner similar to that provided for in this GTC for its conclusion or by the agreement of the parties entered in writing, except in cases where, under the terms of the contract, a different manner is provided, in particular by unilateral change of GTC or other contractual terms the Good Day English parties. Termination of a contractual relationship may be made at a distance, in writing or in any other manner in accordance with these GTC.

3.7. The User has the right to access and use the Services after setting up the User Account and complying with the conditions stated in these GBCs solely for their own use and within the scope of the rights and obligations arising from the selected User's status. The user is not entitled to share the Good Day English Services with a third party or to allow the free or commercial use of the Good Day English Services to a third party.

IV.

Access to the User Account and Use of the Services

4.1. The user will gain access to the User account upon successful sign-up. After the first registration, the User logs in to the User Account by entering his authorization data.

4.2. The user is required to ensure the confidentiality of any authorization data he / she has entered or has been assigned to him / her (especially passwords, access data, etc.) and is required to protect them against loss, misappropriation, misuse or disclosure to third parties. In the event that any of the Authorization Data is suspected to have become known to a third party, the User shall promptly inform Good Day English of this fact and make changes to his authorization data or request Good Day English to alter the data or temporarily block access to the User Account.

4.3. The online Good Day English platform will be made available to the User through dedicated digital communication means. Technical devices designed to access the online platform must meet the minimum technical requirements. The User is responsible for ensuring proper technical parameters and configuring the configuration.

4.4. The User Account provides the User with access to his User Profile and profiles of other Registered Users, including User Content, to information about the Good Day English and other Users offered and provided, as well as to the contractual documents relating to the services provided. In selected cases, the User can edit and manage the data registered on his User Account.
